

Aspiring Authors' Club

Does your child have a great imagination? Does he or she enjoy reading, writing for fun, and helping others improve their writing? If so, this after school opportunity is just for him or her! Many students discover an interest in writing at an early age, and many extend their school experiences at home, writing independently for fun. This club will offer students guidance in exploring what interests them in writing and improve their craft in a fun, relaxed environment. Students will receive some writing tools to get them started, and they will begin to explore how technology can be a tool for writers.
